Chapter One

India begins the first chapter. It is short, but it is a chapter.
The second line ends the first paragraph.

Kilo starts a second paragraph, long enough that the chapter holds more than a heading and a line or two of text before the next one.

Chapter Two

Juliet begins the second chapter, which is just as short as the first one was, and carries on for a while so that it reads like a chapter and not like a label someone left on a figure. And it ends here.